9 HABITS OF PARENTS WHOSE KIDS THRIVE AT SCHOOL:

>>>Habit 2. They Have High Expectations

Parents who expect that their children will succeed in school make sure that school success happens. For these parents, it is simply not even an option that their children will do grade based homework and mini research projects on topics that interest them. The only questions are how and when. This also goes for consistent school attendance, studying and other elements of working for success in school.
